ZYTO™ EVOX

Health professionals often observe that unresolved emotional roadblocks can have a dramatic effect on physical wellness and may cause people to repeat unproductive behaviors.

One of the fastest ways to blast through these roadblocks is perception reframing, changing the way we see and feel about events, circumstances, other people, and ourselves.

The ZYTO EVOX uses the energy of the voice to map perception and track progressive changes. When a client speaks about a specific topic (person, event, ability, etc.) they engage every aspect of their being including breath, memories, and beliefs, and their voice energy will reflect the perception they hold about the topic.

EVOX records and plots that voice energy into what is called a Perception Index. During an EVOX session, a shift indicates a reframe of the perception.

Perception reframing can improve any area of human performance and is often life-changing.

EVOX can be helpful when dealing with issues like:

- Emotional stress
- Athletic performance
- Sadness
- Weight management
- Addictions
- Recurring pain
- Finances
- Work performance
- Anger
- Relationships
